DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restriction

- 1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-21 & 35-40, drawn to An improvement in a CPAP device, classified in class 128, subclass 204.18.
 - II. Claims 22-24, drawn to A Method of Treating Pulmonary Edema, classified in class 128, subclass 200.14.
 - III. Claims 31-34, drawn to A Respiratory Valve, classified in class 128, subclass 205.24.
 - IV. Claims 41-44, drawn to A CPAP Device, classified in class 128, subclass 204.18.
- 2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons: Inventions I, III-IV and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions I, III-IV may effectuate the method, however the Method can be carried out by any respiration device and/or medical personnel.
- 3. Inventions I & III and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention IV does not require all the features of inventions I & III, because it requires a manually adjustable demand valve and a balanced inhalation/exhalation valve where as inventions I & III do not possess such limitations. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

- 4. Inventions I and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, different inhalation/exhalation valves maybe used with different demand valves and hence they each, and/or demand valves do not have to be used with inhalation/exhalation valves and hence each have separate utility. See MPEP § 806.05(d).
- 5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
- 6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
- 7. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group II is not required for Groups I, III-IV, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
- 8. A telephone call was made to Mr. Harold Jackson on 17 Jul 03 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made
